sounding proclamation of President Mora is to go for anything, we may expect soon to learn that the warbetween Costa Rica and Nicaragua has involved the whole of Central America tion of President Mora is simply a piece of tropical gaseonade. The kindling a suran e thal "all the loval sons of Guatemala, San Salborde of bandits," as he styles the dominant action. It is well known that only a few months ly inclined to Walker from the first, and we do per in a twinkle g. At all events, no intellito this effect (beyond that of Costa Rica's aunting manifesto) had reached the ear of Walker at the date of our present advices. It is altogether unlikely. There are no facta and babilities to support it. We feet assured nat the current vague reports concerning the ated alliance of the other Central Ame an States against Nicaragua are sbeer on cre lible information at present, but, on the

The truth seems to be that the existing govrument of Nicaragua, installed and upheld by the aid of Walker, represents the democratic egitimate governments of the other Central factions of those States, which have flourished in more or less vigor ever since the establish-ment of the Confederacy of 1824 upon the rume of the Spanish dominion. The downtall of that Confederacy itself was chiefly the work and representatives of the old Central Amer can tories Revolution and intrigue are their daily bread. They live by treason and conacy. They hate republicanism and love dutum with equal and perfect intensity. Their darling aim is to place their respective States under the protection of some foreign monarch, and thus secure to themselves th the peril of main'aining it. As a class and false and ignorant and slavish beyond meafaculty of intrigue is almost the only rationa wer they exert or possess. They are the was in opposition to such a contemptible and Nicaragua, weakened by its own desensions, and the great and of Walker to establish itself securely in power. And it is in behalf of this same despicable faction that the beh

But we think it highly probable that the war will not reach these dimensions. From the alacrity and decision with which Walker has beet out to beard Costa Rica in her mountain fastnesses, we should hardly be surprised if he should threab her genteelly and return to Granada before the distant States have fully realized the fact of hostilities. There is evidently no shilly-shally about Walker, and an abundance of unwavering pluck. He doubless feels that the critical moment of his career has at length arrived, and he acts as if he felt himself thoroughly complete competent to meet, it triumpharitie.

They had positive enactment. It he does, and we have faith in his star, the future will be comparatively secure. With this concluding proof of his ability to achieve national peace as well as to establish and maintain civil order, our government will have no color of pretext to longer withhold its recognition, and congratulations will pour in upon him from the neighboring States more profusely than ever curses have done. With success, if he attains it, will come "floorer and troops of friends," If he falls, his fate will be that of all haffied heroes from Lucifer down. He will be that of all haffied heroes from Lucifer down. He will be that of all haffied heroes from Lucifer down. He will be that of all haffied heroes from Lucifer down. He will be assuited and expectated. Waiker is treading the narrow line which separates fame.
